The Ready Resource
Providing Up-To-Date Trainings and Resources for Judicial Officers

Welcome to the third issue of The Ready Resource, designed to provide up-to-date trainings and resources for judicial officers.

Courts and Communities

The Ready Resource is a collaboration among the National Council of Juvenile and Family Court Judges (NCJFCJ), the National College of Juvenile Justice (NCJJ), the National Judicial College (NJC), and the Center for Court Innovation (CCI).

Coordinated Community Response (CCR)

A CCR is an example of a collaborative approach to improving systems, a multi-system approach that integrates knowledge and experience to prevent negative systems change.

- Expanded collaboration among stakeholders
- Improved understanding of roles and ethical and legal boundaries and obligations
- Enhanced knowledge base of domestic violence for system stakeholders

Blog from the Bench

Hon. Wendy Million: Tucson, AZ City Magistrate

The Domestic Violence Court is a community court. I have learned from working with law enforcement, the prosecutor, and the probation officers that the community is the biggest part of this type of work. The judicial officers are but one part of the equation. The judicial officers are but one part of the equation.
