

South Carolina

- In 2024, the NCJFCJ trained 30 judges, judicial officers, attorneys, and other juvenile and family court-related professionals working to protect South Carolina's children, families, and victims in our communities.
- The NCJFCJ held a Peer Learning Collaborative Meeting for ten Office for Victims of Crime (OVC) Grantee Teams addressing child sex trafficking victims in the justice system. The meeting was held in Charleston.
- The landscape of juvenile justice in South Carolina is detailed through the Juvenile Justice Geography, Policy, Practice and Statistics website (JJGPS.org), a project of the NCJFCJ's research division, the National Center for Juvenile Justice (NCJJ). JJGPS is an online resource that tracks juvenile justice reform in each state, allowing for comparisons within and across states.
- Multidisciplinary campus professionals from South Carolina representing student conduct, law enforcement, and prevention participated in the Office on Violence Against Women's Campus Training and Technical Assistance Institute (TTI), an opportunity extended to each campus grantee five times over the course of three years. These in-person institutes, combined with webinars and intensive, customized support from national experts, are designed to help college and university campuses enhance their capacity to address domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, and stalking on campus.
- Judicial system professionals from South Carolina participated in the Children and Youth and Engaging Men and Boys Program New Grantee Orientation hosted by the NCJFCJ's Technical Assistance to Technical Assistance Provider's (TA2TA) Resource Center and the Office on Violence Against Women (OVW).
- Justice system professionals from South Carolina received specialized child welfare, domestic violence, and juvenile justice training on current and cutting-edge topics and research during the NCJFCJ's Annual Conference.
- The NCJFCJ has four Associate Members in South Carolina.
